played a leading role in two further initiatives, which reflect McGill's third great academic strength, the establishment of the Institute of Foreign and Comparative Law in 1966, and the re-establishment of the National Program of Legal Education in 1968.

Further details of the Faculty's history may be found in Ian C. Pilarczyk, "A Noble Roster: 150 Years of Law at McGill" (1999); S.B. Frost and D.L. Johnston, "Law at McGill: Past, Present and Future" (1981) 27 McGill L.J. 33; and in S.B. Frost, "The Early Days of Law Teaching at McGill" (1984), 9 Dal. L.J. 150.

For over 150 years the Faculty has endeavoured to provide a liberal education in law and jurisprudence suitable as a first training for the practice of law. Since 1968, the Faculty has offered a national professional training which qualifies students to proceed to the legal professions not only in Quebec, but also in all other Canadian jurisdictions. The curriculum, while remaining within the Faculty's control, reflects the expectations of the professional corporations. It is constantly under review in order to respond to the present and future needs of legal professionals in Canada, as well as the requirements of those intending to pursue careers in the public and private sectors in which legal training is an asset rather than a formal qualification.

At McGill the study of law is more than a professional training. It has long been acknowledged in the great universities of Europe and North America that the scientific, liberal and independent study of law must have a place as an academic discipline. This means that the university is recognized as an appropriate forum to examine the law as an element of social organization, from critical, historical and comparative perspectives. Scholarship in the law is, in this sense, as essential an element in the life of the Faculty as its role in the training of professionals. Indeed, the two functions are inseparable.

McGill occupies a unique position among Canadian law faculties to pursue its dual mission of educating future professionals and promoting scholarship. The Faculty, quite naturally in the light of its location, has a long tradition of teaching and scholarship in both the English and the French languages. The staff and students have always been drawn from these two linguistic groups. While English has been the primary language of the Faculty, the use of French in the classroom and as a language in daily life is firmly entrenched. Wilfrid Laurier's valedictory address of 1864 was delivered in his mother tongue.

McGill has also long been a meeting ground for Canada's legal traditions, the civil law deriving from the law of France and more remotely from Roman Law, and the English common law. The Faculty's early curriculum vividly demonstrated the richness of the Quebec and indeed the Canadian legal heritage when it laid down for study in the 1850s and 1860s, the Institutes of Justinian, the dominant law of pre-Napoleonic France in the form of the Coutume de Paris and that monument of late eighteenth century English law, the Commentaries of William Blackstone.

The Faculty believes that its program, within which students earn both a B.C.L. and an LL.B. degree, creates an important link between the civil and common law systems as they obtain in Can-and Centre of Air and Space Law; the Institute of Comparative Law; the Centre of Private and Comparative Law; the Centre for Medicine, Ethics and Law and the Centre for Intellectual Property Policy.

As an integral part of a great University the Faculty of Law is deeply committed to the two ideals of the University: teaching and scholarship. Throughout its history McGill has recruited its professors and drawn its students from a wide variety of countries. Today the Faculty counts professors who obtained their initial legal training in several different Canadian provinces. It also boasts professors from the United States, Austria, the Czech Republic, Australia and New Zealand. All contribute to the unique scholarly environment of McGill. Similarly, the over 500 undergraduate students are drawn from all 10 Canadian provinces, several states in the United States and a variety of other countries. What is more, graduates of McGill today pursue their careers around the world.

In recognition of this international dimension of its staff and students, McGill offers two undergraduate degrees pursued simultaneously in a joint program: the B.C.L. (Bachelor of Civil Law) enabling students to seek admission to one of the legal professions in Quebec or to gain a familiarity with the private law systems of continental Europe, and the LL.B. (Bachelor of Laws) enabling students to seek admission to the legal profession in other Canadian provinces, in the United States, the United Kingdom, Australia and New Zealand.

Studying Canadian law under McGill's program is a unique academic experience. It requires mastery of the private and public law systems of Canada's several jurisdictions, as well as the ability to situate analytical understanding of legal rules in a broader intellectual and social context. The Faculty thus believes that disciplines such as history, social theory, economics, political science and philosophy offer perspectives which inform the study of law.

McGill's courses reflect these broader themes in the history and philosophy of law. All students enrol in the first-year course Foundations for an initial exposure to these themes. Later, students

Transcripts in a language other than English or French must be accompanied by an English or French translation provided either by the school issuing the transcript or by a certified translator.

Applicants who are currently, or have been, enrolled at a CEGEP must indicate their Permanent Code in their application and submit a student copy of their results, showing marks up to and including the most recent semester completed. McGill will obtain an official transcript electronically from the Quebec Ministry of Education.

McGill University transcripts need not be requested by applicants as the Admissions Office will obtain them directly from the Office of the University Registrar. Please note that the Faculty of Law at McGill does not receive transcripts through LSDAS.

Transfer students should forward the transcript of their winter-term results as soon as they become available. Applications to transfer cannot be considered without these results.

The LSAT is not required for admission to the Faculty of Law at McGill. However, if an applicant has taken or will be taking the LSAT, the score obtained will be reviewed by the Admission Committee as part of its evaluation of a candidacy. Applicants who have taken or will be taking the LSAT exam are to report the date(s) of sitting(s) and supply their LSAT Identification Number (L + eight digits) in the appropriate places in the Tests Taken section of the online application. Please note that applicants are not required to provide the Faculty of Law with a copy of their score as the Admissions Office accesses this information directly.

Candidates writing the LSAT are strongly encouraged to do so by December of the year prior to the year for which they seek admission. Candidates who register for the February LSAT risk that, by the time the Committee reviews their application, there will no longer be a place to offer even if the Committee wishes to admit. Please remember, applications are sent to the Admissions Committee on the basis of the dates they are received and completed.

Applicants are asked to forward two (2) letters of recommendation. Where an applicant is currently a student, references should be from current or recent professors or teachers. Where the applicant is not a student, the references should be from persons familiar with the applicant and able to judge the applicant's academic capacity. Academic references are generally given more weight than professional references. Personal references are not helpful.

Please note that while two letters of reference are required, the file of a candidate who indicates three referees will be considered incomplete until all three letters of reference have been submitted to the Admissions Office.

Format: Letters of reference should be on institutional letterhead whenever possible; if letterhead is not available, the referee should provide a brief explanation. Individuals providing references should sign the letter, enclose it in an envelope, seal the flap of the envelope, and . The referee may then return the envelope to the applicant, or forward letters directly to the Admissions Office. Referees should ensure that letters reach the Admissions Office before the application deadline or as soon thereafter as possible. The B.C.L./LL.B. with Minor Program is open to all students enrolled in the Faculty of Law and allows them to graduate with a Minor offered by McGill's Faculties of Arts or Science upon the completion of the requirements for the Minor. In so doing, they must complete 18 credits in addition to the 105 credits needed for the B.C.L./LL.B. program. Since Science Minors are typically 24 credits whereas Arts Minor Concentrations are typically 18 credits, Law students will be allowed to count six credits of a 24 credit Minor towards their Law degree.

Law students should consult the Faculty of Arts and Faculty of Science sections of the Undergraduate Programs Calendar available at www.mcgill.ca/courses to determine the requirements for individual Minor Concentrations.

The Law/Major Concentration Program is under review. Students should consult the Faculty web site for updates:

www.mcgill.ca/law-studies.

The B.C.L./LL.B. with Honours program is open to students who have completed four terms of study at the Faculty of Law and who, during that time, have maintained a GPA of 3.0. Students must complete 15 credits in addition to the 105 credits required in the B.C.L./LL.B. program. Conditional upon submission and approval of an Honours Thesis, students will be granted a B.C.L./LL.B. with Honours.

A joint M.B.A./Law program is offered by the Desautels Faculty of Management and the Faculty of Law. This joint program provides a small number of students the opportunity to pursue legal and administrative aspects of business. Successful candidates graduate with M.B.A., B.C.L. and LL.B. degrees, a trio that prepares them for careers in private and public enterprise, as well as government service.

Interested applicants can seek admission to the joint program concurrently, or once they have begun either the B.C.L./LL.B. or M.B.A. programs.

Applicants making concurrent admissions must make separate applications to the Faculty of Law and the Desautels Faculty of Management. Admission to the Faculty of Law is made on the same criteria as though the applicant were applying only to the B.C.L./LL.B. program. Admission to the Desautels Faculty of Management depends upon among other things, the student's performance on the GMAT. For further information on the M.B.A. program, please consult the Desautels Faculty of Management at: www.mcgill.ca/mba.

With concurrent admissions, students will undertake a first year of M.B.A. courses only, followed by the B.C.L./LL.B. first-year program. In their third year, such students will complete their required second-year B.C.L./LL.B. courses in combination with electives from law and M.B.A. Remaining required and elective credits in both programs will be completed in subsequent semesters. Students already in the M.B.A. program can apply to the joint program during their first year in which case their program will follow the same pattern as previously described. Students already in the

Students must take such other complementary or elective courses as are offered within the Faculty or approved as credit equivalences in order to complete the 105 credit requirement.

For students who entered the Faculty in 2004-2005 or later, these other credits may include up to six non-Law credits. For students who entered the Faculty prior to 2004-2005, these other credits may include up to 12 non-Law credits.

All students are required to submit at least one research paper. This requirement may be satisfied by:

- writing an essay in a course in which the essay constitutes no less than 75% of the final grade;
- writing a term essay under independent supervision, for credit, within the Faculty of Law;

B.C.L./LL.B. program may apply to the joint program in their first or second year; in either case, they will have to complete their first two years of required B.C.L./LL.B. courses in consecutive years. Students should expect to complete the joint program in four to five years.

in certain courses offered by the The Institute of Air and Space Law in section 8.1, "Programs Offered".

McGill's Faculty of Law and School of Social Work offer a joint program enabling students to obtain both the B.C.L./LL.B. degrees and a Master's in Social Work.

Applicants to the joint M.S.W./B.C.L./LL.B. program must make separate concurrent applications to the School of Social Work and the Faculty of Law. Acceptance into the joint program is dependent on the applicant being admitted to both the School of Social Work for M.S.W. and the Faculty of Law for the B.C.L./LL.B. Admission to the Faculty of Law is made on the same criteria as though the applicant were applying only to the Law program.

Students should note that course requirements for the joint M.S.W./B.C.L./LL.B. programs are currently under review.

These regulations set out for each year in the Faculty, the courses which are streamed for that year. All other courses, i.e., courses not indicated by year, may be freely taken in any year after the first, subject to further restrictions and prerequisites which may be imposed from time to time. These rules may be set aside in the case of students authorized to study on a part-time basis, students pursuing approved joint degrees with other Faculties within the University, advanced standing and transfer students.

Students registered at McGill are required to present an ID card when writing examinations and when using libraries, Student Services, certain laboratories, and many residences.

An ID card cannot be issued until at least 3 hours after the student has registered. When requesting the card, new students must present Permanent Code information and proof of legal status in Canada (for a list of documents please see section 10.2 "Legal Documents").

ID cards will not be issued if any of the legal documents are missing.

Registered students may obtain an ID card at these times and locations:

The Student Identification Card is the property of the University, is to be used by the cardholder only, and is not transferable. Students withdrawing from all of their courses must attach their ID card to the withdrawal form or return their ID card to the Admissions, Recruitment and Registrar's Office (or the Faculty of Agricultural and Environmental Sciences Student Affairs Office, Macdonald Campus).

Students who need security access to labs or other facilities should refer to www.mcgill.ca/security/services/access.

All students are registered under their legal name as shown in one of the following documents:

* Quebec marriage certificates are only acceptable if issued prior to 1984.

May register late from Wednesday, August 1 until and including Tuesday, September 4 with the payment of a late registration fee of $50 ($20 for Special Students).

* Students may be exempted from this fee only with the written authorization of the Associate Dean.

Students could expect the minimum cost for books and case books to be $500.

Students will receive, free of charge, brief outlines of courses where such are available. Casebooks, statutes, etc. will be sold through the Law Bookstore.

Students admitted to the University will be required to confirm their acceptance of the offer of admission on www.mcgill.ca/minerva-students/applicants and pay the required deposit by credit card (Visa or Mastercard) at that time.

Electronic billing is the official means of delivering fee statements to all McGill University students. The University has replaced printed paper fee statements with a convenient electronic billing system for students to view their account statement on Minerva. All charges to the student's account, including tuition, fees, health insurance and other miscellaneous charges are on your e-bill. E-bills are generally produced in the first few days of the month and an e-mail notification that the e-bill is ready to be viewed on Minerva is sent to the student's official McGill e-mail address. Charges or payments that occur after the statement date will appear on the next month's statement, but may be immediately viewed on the Account Summary by Term on Minerva (this is the on-line dynamic account balance view).

Interest will not be cancelled due to non-receipt of fee invoices. Students should access the Student Accounts Website at www.mcgill.ca/student-accounts for information on payment due dates.

Students who still have an outstanding balance greater than $100 on their account as of October 31st (February 28th for the Winter term) will be charged a late payment fee of $25 over and above interest.

Students may choose to give access privileges to a guest within Minerva. These privileges include viewing e-Bills/Account Summaries, Tax Receipts and e-payment.

A Web page at www.mcgill.ca/student-accounts/guest describes how students can set up this access. Students are asked to provide certain information about the individual for whom they wish to provide access to their fee-related information. The guest will be contacted by e-mail and provided with a link which they must use within a designated time period.

Students may revoke these access privileges at any time. At the same time, note that Student Accounts staff may respond to questions from your authorized guests regarding the information to which you have given them access.

If students do not wish to give a guest access privileges to Minerva, they may still enter alternative student billing e-mail addresses to which Student Accounts will send carbon copies of the monthly e-bill notification. However if someone has been granted access as a guest and their guest email is the same as a carbon copy student billing email address, the University will de-activate the student billing email address in order to only notify your guest about the billings once.

Students are cautioned NOT to share their own PINS with anyone, and guest access allows information to be passed to a guest without giving away your PIN.

All students who have accessed Minerva to register must officially from undergraduate to graduate, the CGPA starts again. This policy took effect January 2003. Prior to January 2003, if a student's degree program had changed, e.g., from B.Sc. to B.A., the CGPA started again. For students with academic information prior to Fall 2002, who are registered in a different program or in a different level post-Fall 2002, the transcript displays a special message regarding the CGPA restarting. If courses are repeated, all results are included in the GPA calculation. Therefore, grades of D or F continue to be used in the CGPA calculation even after the course is repeated or if a supplemental examination is taken. Students should note that credits are only granted once for a repeated course regardless of the passing grade.

Subject to section 13.7 "Changes to Student Records after Normal Deadlines", students are responsible for verifying their academic record on Minerva using the unofficial transcript to ensure that they are registered in the proper courses, and that the correct program information and expected term of graduation is appearing on their record.

Graduating students must make sure to verify their record on Minerva prior to the end of term in which they are graduating to ensure that the correct expected term of graduation is indicated on their unofficial transcript; if not, the end of the change of course period of the evaluation method to be used in each course.

Every student has a right to write term papers, examinations and theses in English or in French except in courses where knowledge of a language is one of the objectives of the course.

The Centre for Intellectual Property Policy was founded in 2003 under the auspices of the Faculty of Law. The goal of the Centre is to explore new perspectives on intellectual property so as to offer useful policy options to governments, the business community, researchers and developing economies.

Researchers affiliated with the Centre for Intellectual Property Policy, located around the world, come from a variety of disciplines such as law, management, philosophy, ethics, science, and economics. Together, they study how governments, researchers and industry manage new and old technologies and balance the concerns of technology users, technology creators and citizens at large. The Centre also acts as a neutral forum for interested parties and regularly holds conferences and workshops on a variety of topics related to intellectual property and innovation.

Since its establishment in 1977, the Centre has conducted research on various topics in air and space law and policy and it published a vast number of monographic studies, books, proceedings of symposia, reports and studies dealing with technical, economic and legal implications of the construction of airports, legal implications of direct broadcasting via satellites, remote sensing, natural resources in outer space and problems created by solar energy, military uses of outer space, air navigation management, the development of government regulation of air transport in Canada, etc. Researchers at the Centre have been leaders in addressing these issues for decades, holding interdisciplinary conferences and publishing documents on contemporary legal and policy issues. During its 30 years of existence, the Centre for Research of Air and Space Law contributed to promoting the name and prestige of McGill University through organizing successful conferences and workshops and through widely distributed publications, such as the Annals of Air and Space Law.

The Centre of Private and Comparative Law was founded in 1975 to promote research in the field of private law from a jurilinguistic and comparative perspective. The Centre has produced a historical and critical edition of the civil codes and is sponsoring a Quebec Civil Law Treatise. In addition, the Centre has published a bilingual lexicon of legal terms as well as the Private Law Dictionary and the Dictionnaire de droit privé, world-renowned authorities on the vocabulary of the civil law in English and French. The Centre sponsors the Civil Law Workshops at the Faculty which are designed to explore the foundations of the civil law tradition. In 2004, the Centre has initiated a new research program aiming to publish a collection of books devoted to the trans-systemic teaching of law in the McGill Undergraduate Program.

The Centre for Medicine, Ethics and Law was founded in 1986 by the Faculties of Medicine, Religious Studies and Law, with subsequent participation by the Department of Philosophy. Its mission is to undertake and promote transdisciplinary research, teaching and community involvement in a broad field which includes health law and bioethics. The Centre's members are involved in a wide variety of activities including clinical and research ethics consultations to McGill Teaching Hospitals, governments and other institutions. Graduate students can undertake their Master's studies in law through the Master's Specialization in Bioethics in which Centre members, from the participating faculties including the Faculty of Law, act as thesis supervisors.
